

Fried Pork with Black Fungus - mu'er zhu rou

serves 30 people

Ingredients

- Dried black fungus (1 pack)
- pork (ribs) 6 lbs
- green peppers (2 hot green pepper and 2 green bell peppers)
- fresh ginger (about 3 inches)
- fresh garlic (2 boles)
- salt
- light soy sauce and dark soy sauce
- cooking wine
- oil

Preparations

- Wash dried black fungus with hot water, then soak them with cold water until they fully expand
- Slice pork and mix them with a little salt, light soy sauce, dark soy sauce and cooking wine. Put the pork slices in a plate for 30 minutes
- Trim off the stems of the soaked black fungus with scissors and tear the black fungus into small pieces and set them aside.
- Slice the green peppers, chop ginger and garlic and set them aside.
- Heat some oil in the wok. Fry the meat with some ginger and garlic slices and then set them aside.
- Heat some oil in the wok. Fry black fungus with some ginger and garlic slices.
- Add some salt to the wok. Then add the fried meat.
- Continue to fry the meat with black fungus for several minutes.

Source: <https://csmn.nl/en/resources/chinese-recipes/fried-pork-with-black-fungus-muer-zhu-rou>